

Nature Champions Back Biodiversity

Riparian Woodland

Shaded river banks & deadwood provides good habitat for young fish & invertebrates, as food for fish and other aquatic life.

It serves very important functions in our landscapes, providing habitat for young fish and mitigating extreme events like flooding.

Creating a network of riparian woodland and healthy river systems throughout Scotland:
<https://scottishwildlifetrust.org.uk/our-work/our-projects/riverwoods/>

